

Graduates from the iSchool have a unique set of information skills and knowledge to share with employers with an unlimited range of job titles to match. Below are real job titles that iSchool graduates have reported holding through employment surveys.

Use this list to inspire and inform your job search, and read job descriptions from diverse titles to see how you can put your abilities to work in a meaningful way. Talk to people who have titles that interest you, and use the titles as a resource when searching job engines such as Indeed.com. Most of all, heed this advice from recent graduates: “Be open minded in your job search. Information workers are in high demand – making most anything you learn at the iSchool applicable to the workforce.”
