The criminal justice system and IPV; readings as of January 2009

These readings address phenomena most commonly found in police departments with some discussion of the judiciary and district attorneys. Obviously hundreds of others are available; these have been particularly useful in my own work and are offered from that perspective alone. Please share any additional readings.

